A. JOHNSTON GIVES BOND FOR PERJURY

SURRENDERS AT ST. JOSEPH WHEN HE HEARS OF WARRANT.

HEARING FOR MARCH 20

After Arrival in Maryville Today, He Gives Statement in Regard to Stewart Testimony.

Albert Johnston of Maryville, against whom a warrant was issued Thursday in the Federal Court at St. Joseph, charging him with perjury in the testimony given by him in the Stewart land fraud case at Kansas City last week, arrived in Maryville about noon today released on a $1500 bond.

Mr. Johnston left here Thursday before word was received that the warrant had been issued for his arrest. He drove to Kansas City and went to the office of R. R. Brewster, attorney for Stewart. When Johnston learned of the warrant, he immediately returned to St. Joseph and surrendered himself to United States Federal Commission Jack Duncan, pled not guilty to the charge, and was released on bond. His hearing was set for March 20. Mr. Johnston has retained R. R. Brewster of Kansas City and Charles H. Mayer of St. Joseph as his attorneys.

In speaking of his testimony at the Stewart trial on which the perjury charge was based, Mr. Johnston said he had owned the still owned the farm in Texas, that T. B. King testified that he (King) now owned.

"I rented the farm to Mr. King in the fall of 1920," said Johnston. "The house was too small and needed improvements; I was unable at the time to make the improvements, so Mr. King agreed to do so. In order to protect him against loss in the expense of these improvements, I gave him a bill of sale on the place."

Johnston stated that the papers had erroneously stated that he had never worked for the Stewart Co. "I testified that I was not in the employ of Stewart at the time I made talks at their clubhouse," he said. In speaking of the alleged guards at the clubhouse, Johnston said that he was allowed to come and go at will, and was not then an employee of the company.

"King and I were to work for the Stewart Co. after I leased my land to him", said Johnston. He also said that the tchatoes he raised, as stated in his testimony, were raised on a rented farm, as he had just purchased his land and it had been cleared off as yet.

Shell-Shocked "Vet" Gets Violently Mad

Suffers Hallucinations That He Was Fighting "Murderous Germans" At Verdun

Cleveland, O., March 3—A wounded and shell-shocked veteran of the World War, under hallucinations that he was fighting off the "murdering Germans" at the Verdun front, wounded two policemen, his brother, and held a half hundred policemen at bay at 7 o'clock this morning, despite a volley of pistol shots and tear bombs. The disabled veteran, John Wetsell, 27, was a member of the 5th Division, and was finally captured by strategic work of Captain McMasters, and confined to the county jail.

The capture came after the room had been filled with tear gas and the ex-soldier was seen at the window waving a white rag for a flag of truce. When he refused to throw down his pistol, police refused to accept his surrender and answered with a volley of tear gas. In the meantime Captain McMasters crept upstairs, although he had been previously shot in the hand during the siege, rushed into the room and overpowered the insane man.

"I didn't have the heart to shoot him," said McMasters, "He got that way defending his country."

The suit was tried in probate court several months ago and that court found notes amounting to about $23,000 belonged to the Workman estate. An appeal was taken to circuit court and Judge John Dawson disqualified the Judge Charles H. Mayer of St. Joseph was selected as special judge. The testimony in the case was heard several months ago by Judge Mayer.

Notes aggregating about $47,000 were contended by both the executors of the estate and Francis M. Workman. It is thought an appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court.

SENATE FIGHTS ITS RACE 'GAINST TIME

ADJOURNMENT TOMORROW WITH UNFINISHED LEGISLATION

MANY TO "SHED TOGAS"

Adjournment Will Be Notable for Number of National Statesmen to Retire to Private Life

Washington, March 3—The sixty-seventh running of the famous "legislative handicap" one of the greatest races against time in political history, is under way in Congress today, and Senate and House leaders are driving down the home stretch for enactment of last minute laws.

They are facing adjournment at noon Sunday and hundreds of bills are doomed for failure for lack of time to consider them. The legislators are anxious to contiue the session far into the night in an effort to clear up the legislative calander.

Although the greatest of international treaties have been ratified, an epoch-making tariff passed, and a record set fo rthe extension of aid to the farmers, the now fast-dying Congress lays greater claim in political history for the large number of nationally known statesmen retiring to private life. The men gathered now for their final sessions, include fifteen Senators, and 126 Congressmen, who are about to shed their togas for the "mufti" of civil life.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, March 3—More than a score of men who have been national figures in the last quarter of a century, and who have left their imprint upon the pages of American history, passed from the national stage today with the ending of the Sixty-seventh Congress.

Some of them retire of their own accord after many years of service; others are retiring by the expressed will of their constituents; but regardless of the method of their going, their absence will entail radical changes in the make-up of what is known as "official Washington."

Probably the most widely known of all of those to pass is "Uncle Joe" Cannon, who has completed 46 years in the House of Representatives, a record that stands supreme. "Uncle Joe" is retiring voluntarily, and no pang of defeat will embitter his remaining years, nor mar the memory of his great service.

Only once in nearly half a century have the "home folks" of Danville, Ill, turned "Uncle Joe" down. That was in 1912, at the start of the Wilson Administration. He was absent for two years, but came back in 1914 and has been consistently re-elected since. His service spans from the 43 Congress to the 67th inclusive. He has been for years the only man in Congress with vivid recollection of Lincoln, for he was a delegate to the memorable convention that nominated The Emancipator.

"Uncle Joe's" Record Enviable

Few men have attained the eminence in Congress that "Uncle Joe" held and maintained for so many years. For eight of those years he was Speaker of the House, his power virtually unlimited, his dominance unquestioned. He was the last of the "Czars." He was broken by the Progressive-Insurgents from the West in the first skirmish of that long chain of events that led up to the famous Republican split of 1912.

Two other "old timers" of the House to pass are Frank W. Mondell (R.), of Wyoming, and Joseph W. Fordney (R.), of Michigan. Mondell, who has served 26 years in the House was defeated in his aspiration for the Senate this year. His going will necessitate a new Republican leader of the lower chamber. Fordney, with 24 years of service, retires voluntarily in order, he said, "to spend my declining years enjoying my grandchildren." His going leaves vacant the chairmanship of the all-powerful Ways and Means Committee. With Senator McCumber (R.), of North Dakota, he sponsored the present Republican tariff law.

Philip P. Campbell (R.), of Kansas, with twenty years of continuous service, also will be among the missing in the new Congress. He is chairman of the powerful Rules Committee. He was defeated in the primaries.

SENATE PUNCTURES WORLD COURT PLAN

HARDING PROPOSAL VOTED DOWN 49 TO 24

SENATE IN AN UPROAR

Caused by Parliamentary Entanglement —And Many Unaware of What They Were Voting On.

Washington, March 3—The Senate this afternoon formally refused to consider the Harding proposal for American participation in the international court of justice as created under the Versailles Treaty.

The motion introduced by Senator King, Democrat of Utah, to take up the resolution on the President's proposal, was defeated by a vote of 49 to 24. The vote was taken while the Senate was in a state of uproar due to a parliamentary entanglement.

The vote came while a half dozen Senators were on their feet demanding recognition, and when they were not aware of what subject was being voted upon.

Senator King obtained recognition and called for a vote on the resolution he had "introduced a few days ago." Before the resolution was read King called for the vote and roll call was started. The vote was strictly along party lines, the Republicans voting against the motion and the Democrats supporting it.

The Romance of Egypt.

Ordinary people do not get much stirred up over the dusty old finds of archaeological research. But the treasures and relics at least 3,200 years old found in the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen of Egypt have aroused the attention of the world.

As a result it is predicted that a wave of imitation of Egyptian art will be seen in this country. Some stores are already advertising fashions copied from Egyptian designs. Our flappers should be discreet though, and wear more clothes than some of the heiroglyphics suggest were fashionable then.

These discoveries have stirred so much interest that libraries are being beseiged for books about ancient Egypt. Crowds gather around the museum show cases where Egyptian relics are displayed.

At a time when the Hebrew, Greek and Roman civilizations had not begun to develop, Egypt was a relatively cultivated country. It entertained some progressive ideas. Women enjoyed a much greater independence than in other ancient countries, perhaps more than in many modern lands up to a recent time. Women under Egyptian law had full enjoyment of the rights of property.

Another thing that was exceedingly modern for those times was the wide spread education. Reading and writing were common accomplishments, even among the working people. School discipline was severe, indicating the feeling of that age that young people must be made to learn. "The ears of the young," says an Egyptian proverb "are on his back, and the boy hears when he is flogged."

An ancient country that gave thought to popular education and the rights of women has at least learned something of human welfare, which is perhaps the reason why Egypt retained greatness longer than most of the older civilization.

Paul Lasley, who was seriously hurt while playing foot ball with the Bedford team last September, returned home last week from St. Joseph where he has been in the hospital for more than six weeks, part of the time hovering between life and death. He has practically recovered and as soon as he regains his strength will be as well as before meeting with the accident, probably ready and willing to play foot ball again.

Cecil Proctor has bought the interest of Oliver Young in the live stock formerly belonging to Proctor & Young and will now go it alone, having rented the Young farm, paying cash rent. He will continue to raise pedigreed Shorthorn cattle. Mr. Young has rented the Snodgrass farm to be operated by his son Byron.

A curious freak of nature was revealed last week when a farmer near Hopkins butchered a 275 pound hog. After sticking the hog in the usual way it refused to die. After the second attempt to kill the porker, it took thirty minutes for the animal to die. After it did die the men cut into the curious specimen and found that the hog had two hearts. One larger than the other, the smaller heart had grown fast to the liver. The hog also had three kidneys. Thus giving it almost as many lives as a cat.

W. L. Robb was called to St. Louis last Friday by the death of his sister, Mrs. Kate Howard, who passed away that day in a local hospital where she had been recently taken, as told in a former issue of this paper, suffering with blood poisoning.

James Dillon, son of John and Margaret Dillon, was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, January 19, 1850. In 1881 he was married to Ellen Dunn and to this union were born nine children, six boys and three girls who, with Mrs Dillon survive. A good change is the renting of the hotel by Ad Hufnstutter, who has moved his meat market to it, and will live there, and use the upper rooms for a rooming house. There has been no place where one could stop over night, except some private house, and this comes as a welcome change.

Barnard Bulletin

Fay Campbell had his finger cut so badly by his saw last Thursday evening that he was compelled to have it amputated between the second and third joints. It was the middle finger on the left hand. He was tightening one of the guides in front of the saw when his mitten caught and dragged his hand into the saw. One other finger was cut so that it was necessary to take a stitch in the wound. His wound is reported to be mending nicely at this time.

Last Thursday, Homer Farmer killed a large hawk which measured fifty-two and one-half inches from tip to tip. This will undoubtedly save many of the young chickens in that neighborhood.

THE BEST MEDICINE.—A merry heart doeth good like a medicine; but a broken spirit drieth the bones. —Proverbs 17:22.

PLEASE PAGE DIOGENES!

His Honest Man Is Found by a Delaware Official.

The man Diogenes sought with a lantern some time ago has been found, says Harvey Hoffnecker, prothonotary of New Castle county, Delaware. An employee of the Du Pont company, drawn as an extra juror near the close of the November session of the Superior court, walked into Hoffnecker's office and handed back the check for $3, given him for one day's service.

The man insisted that he had been in the courtroom only an hour or two and several of the cases scheduled for the day, it was learned, had been settled out of court, and he was not called for service. He said he did not feel the county owed him anything and asked Hoffnecker to return the amount to the treasury, as he had conscientious scruples against taking money he had not earned.

Special Prizes Offered in Their Own Competition—Ass'n Will Not Distribute Eggs

Members of the Northwest Missouri Poultry Association, who met at the Farm Bureau office yesterday afternoon, arranged for the association to offer special premiums at the poultry show next December for boys and girls, who will set purebred eggs, raise the chickens and enter at least a pen of five chickens in the poultry show. Boys and girls from 10 to 18 years of age are eligible, and those who want to compete for the special premiums must enroll with the county agent by April 1st, and are expected to raise the chickens by themselves. The association this year will not handle and distribute eggs for the boys and girls as they have done in the last two years, thinking it will be more satisfactory for the young folks to get the kind of eggs they want from the most convenient source. The boys and girls will enter their chickens under the same rules and pay the same entry fees as other persons entering birds in the show, but will be entitled to compete without additional charge for the special boys and girls premiums which will be offered on pens: 1st, 10; 2nd, $7.50; 3rd, $5.00; 4th, $2.50, the birds to be judged by comparison. All boys and girls who expect to compete for these special premiums should enroll with the county agent before April 1st, stating the variety of chickens they expect to raise.

Bur. Ict. Church Play May Be Shown Here

"The Gypsy Rover," Musical Comedy by M. E. Choir, Was Big Success

Requests have been received by the choir of the First M. E. Church of Burlington Junction to bring its musical comedy, "The Gypsy Rover" to Maryville, following its most successful showing there on Monday and Tuesday nights of this week. The play showed to a crowded house both nights, and some have said it was the best home talent production ever staged in Burlington Junction. In writing of the comedy, the Burlington Junction Post asid:

Every member of the cast was from the M. E. choir, with the exception of the part of Gypsy Rob, which was carried by Cecil Sanders, tenor, of Baker University, Baldwin City, Kansas. Mr. Sanders, who is a brother to Mrs. Berry Hann of this place, fitted into his part admirably and although he had only two rehearsals with the cast after arriving here Saturday, was able to play the leading role with credit. Mrs. Hubert Corken, who played opposite Mr. Sanders in the role of Constance, also demonstrated unusual ability, and a number of others with special parts received generous applause.

Credit for the success of the production is given by members of the choir to Mrs. Charles Caldwell, under whose direction it was given. In appreciation of her work, members of the cast presented her with a large bouquet of roses at the close of the second act Tuesday evening.

We are informed that the post office at North Branch, on the Maryville and Grant City line, has been discontinued, temporarily at least, because the postmaster has moved away. The citizens of that community will do well to petition for the appointment of someone as his successor.

The Northwestern editorial convention at St. Joseph on the 25th of April promises to be largely attended if the universal endorsement of the movement may be taken as an indication.

There was filed for record in the office of the recorder, of Nodaway, last week, a consolidated mortgage from James F. Joy, president of the K. C. St. Joe & C. B. R. R. Co., to Arthur Hunnewell, John A. Burnam, Jr., and James H. Blake of Boston, Mass., for eight million dollars. This money is for the purpose of purchasing new grounds at Kansas City and St. Joseph, providing additional rolling stock, cancelling outstanding indebtedness, and fencing and putting the road in first class condition.

DROP A PAIR OF CAGE CONTESTS

M. H. S. LOSES TWO GAMES LAST NIGHT.

BOTH GAMES ROUGH

Benton Won From Boys 28-22 and Burlington Junction From Girls 11-6.

The Maryville High School dropped a pair of basketball games last night by losing the boys game to the Benton high at St. Joseph and the girls game to the Burlington Junction sextet at Burlington Junction.

The scores were: Benton, 28; Maryville, 22 and Burlington Junction, 11; Maryville, 6.

In the boys game the Maryville team led until the last three minutes. At the first of the game they swung into the lead and held their advantage until the very last when Benton, in a streak of basketball first knotted the score and then forged ahead.

At the end of the half Maryville was leading 13 to 12. This score must have been the unlucky 13 because it was in the second half that the damage was done.

A number of persons who were spectators at the game claim that "Chiddo" Scott, the referee allowed the game to get too rough in the last part and that it was that that defeated the Maryville team.

In reference to last nights game at St. Joseph Coach Lawrence said, "There's lots to say but it can all be summed up in the fact that we lost and that's about all."

To show the closeness of the score all through the game the instant score is printed:

Maryville—2, 4, 5, 7, 9, 10, 12, 13—15, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22.

Benton—2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12—14, 15, 17, 19, 21, 23, 25, 26, 28.

The girls game too was rough. The style of play employed by the Burlington Junction girls was entirely foreign to the Maryville team. Playing on a small court the Junction players would use the wall on one side and would bounce the ball on it.

At the end of the first half the score stood 4 to 4. In the second period, however, the Junction team gained a two point lead and held it until the last when they increased it to five points.

Miss Nash, the coach of the girls team, was ill and unable to go to Burlington Junction so "Frosty" Froman, the president of the high school athletic association acted as coach, manager, mascot and bat-boy.

The score:

Coach Maynor Says Maryville Is The Peppiest Basketball Town In The Wide, Wide World

The following is the first of a series of articles which Coach Eugene A. Maynor of the State Teachers College is writing for the Democrat-Forum relative to the Bearcat basketball season of 1923. The other articles will appear in daily sequence.

Maryville as a Basketball Town

By E. A. Maynor

It is to be seriously doubted if there is a better basketball town in the world than Maryville. Indeed, from the minute practice started until the final game of the season, basketball seems to be the one absorbing topic.

One day while calling on my butcher, I complimented him on the splendid assortment of meats and informed him that in my opinion he kept the most modern market in this section of the state.

He thanked me rather indifferently and changed the subject to basketball, insisting that he was an expert at the game. Now I was serious about the matter when I said he was a splendid butcher, but I have an absolute aversion for men who want to extall their physical prowess without the slightest accomplishment to substantiate their contention.

Nevertheless I handed him a ball that I had just purchased and had crudely blown up with my mouth. To demonstrate his ability he seized the ball and tossed it at an empty lard can. When the ball slid down the greasy side into the lard can, much to my disgust, my butcher friend was almost overcome with joy.

When I had previously complimented him on his ability as a butcher, he barely recognized the commendation but when I remarked that he unquestionably still had a good eye for the basket, after he almost ruined the new ball by throwing it into the lard can, he all but fell on my shoulder in gratification.

I had supposed before coming to Maryville that a ministers chief ambition is to see his flock grow and that his highest ambition is to realize that he is succeeding in this respect.

However, one afternoon shortly after the basketball season opened, one of our ministers paid the College a visit as he is wont to do quite often, much to our delight. On this particular afternoon he insisted that he wanted a uniform for the purpose of taking part in the scrimmage.

Of course I realized that it was little short of a sin to put him in against a bunch of seasoned men, but nothing else would do him and accordingly he was permitted to go in.

Frankly speaking, his form was wrong, his tactics poor, and his physical condition worse. Indeed, about the only thing about him that was suggestive of a basketball player was the way he chewed his gum. Notwithstanding all this he could throw the ball across the court and into the balcony. This feat he accomplished as regularly as he gained possession of the ball, which was rather infrequent.

Now, I had previously complimented him on a series of sermons he had just finished and informed him that I thought that they were quite helpful. But to my remarks he paid little attention and continued to rattle about basketball, and as I had anticipated he finally asked me what I thought of his game. Well, I said, "I believe you can throw the ball harder and farther than any man on the team."

I had no idea that I was handing him a bouquet when I made the remark, but his saintly countenance beamed forth like a lighthouse on a stormy night.

So much for basketball sentiment in Maryville.

B. J. Boys Defeat Blanchard 19 to 17

The Burlington Junction boys team won from the Blanchard, Ia. quintet last night at Burlington Junction in a hard fast game. The playing was rough and a number of fouls were called on both teams. The score was 19 to 17.

Edwards, Junction forward and Hays of Blanchard were the stars of the game. Edwards dropped in five field goals and Hays rang the bell four times, each shot being from the center of the court.

The game was refereed by Foster of Blanchard and was played at the Legion hall.

Hillyards Defeat the Schooley Five 44-37

St. Joseph Five Clearly Demonstrates Its Superiority In Basketball Circles

The St. Joseph Hillyards kept their record for the season clean by defeating the Schoolcys of Kansas City last night at the Convention Hall in K. C. by a score of 44 to 37. The winners were clearly the superior team and under the leadership of Capt. DeBernardi they showed the 3,000 rooters what the first rate brand of basketball really is.

In the first half the Hillyards extended themselves and the DeBernardi to Rody to Reif combination ran up a 25 to 9 lead in the period.

Outlook Brighter for Dempsey-Gibbons Bout

Helena, Mont., Mar. 3.—Prospects for a title bout at Shelby, montana this summer between Jack Dempsey Champion and Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, grew brighter today when attorney-general, W. D. Renkin announced that a fifteen round bout could be legitimately held in the state of Montana. Shelby promoters have already raised sufficient funds demanded by Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, and negotiations were resumed today to complete the arrangements for the bout probably on July 4.

Maitland Cagers Wins From Oregon 40-26

At Maitland last night the Maitland High School teams won from the Oregon High quintet by a score of 40 to 26. The score at the end of the first half was 18 to 13 in favor of Maitland.

Maitland has been handicapped for the past month by the fact that Cooper, one of the star forwards has been out of the game with injuries.

The game last night was a return game, Oregon having won from Maitland at Oregon, two weeks ago by a score of 28 to 26.

Maitland has won 23 out of 26 games played this year. The team will enter the high school tourney to be held at the College week after next.

sota, author of the most famous piece of legislation the Congress ever passed, also retired—beaten by a man who boasted during the campaign that he was "drier than Volstead." Volstead is chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

C. Bascom Slemp, who for sixteen years has borne the distinction of being the only Republican in the House from Virginia, retires with the Sixty-seventh Congress. He declined a renomination and his district will be represented in the new Congress by a Democrat for the first time in years.

Senator Ratio Is Greater

On the Senate side the passing of well-known figures is even more pronounced, because the casualties last November were proportionately greater.

Two men who came in the same day 24 years ago pass out together—both beaten, singularly enough, not by the opposition party, but by their own parties in the primaries. They are Senators Porter J. McCumber (R.), of North Dakota, and Charles A. Culberson (D.), of Texas.

McCumber's passing is somewhat ironical. After 24 years of service he attained the goal of all Senators, the chairmanship of the powerful Finance Committee, through the unexpected death of Boies Penrose. He occupied the chair only a few months before falling before the displeasure of his constituents, but in that time he fathered the present tariff bill with Fordney, of Michigan, and also the bonus bill, which was vetoed by the President.

A familiar and powerful figure on the Democratic side who passes from the picture today is Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska, who was President Wilson's spokesman in the memorable League of Nations fight. He has served 12 years.

Senator Miles Poindexter (R.), of Washington, an old "irreconcilable" in that fight, goes along to keep Hitchcock company. Poindexter will be the new American Ambassador to Peru.

Many Others Depart

Other well-known Senators who are bidding good-bye to-day to the associates of years are:

Senator Atlee Pomerene (D.), of Ohio, whose defeat in November punctured a Presidential boom that already had attained considerable proportions.

Senator Charles E. Townsend (R.), of Michigan, known as the "good roads" champion of Congress. He served eight years in the House before reaching the Senate.

Senator John Sharp Williams (D.), of Mississippi, last of the old school Southerners in the Senate, whose sharp tongue and ready wit have provided the sparkle in many debates.

Senator Joseph I. France (R.), of Maryland, "irreconcilable," friend of Soviet Russia, and the only man who voted against the Washington naval treaties.

Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen (R.), of New Jersey, the golfing partner of President Harding and his host on many occasions.

Senator Frank B. Kellogg (R.), of Minnesota, another golfing partner of the President.

Senator Harry S. New (R.), of Indiana, still another of the President's close personal friends and once chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Associations of many years are being ended today as the "lame ducks" begin to wend their way "back home"—out of the national spotlight.

The New Improved

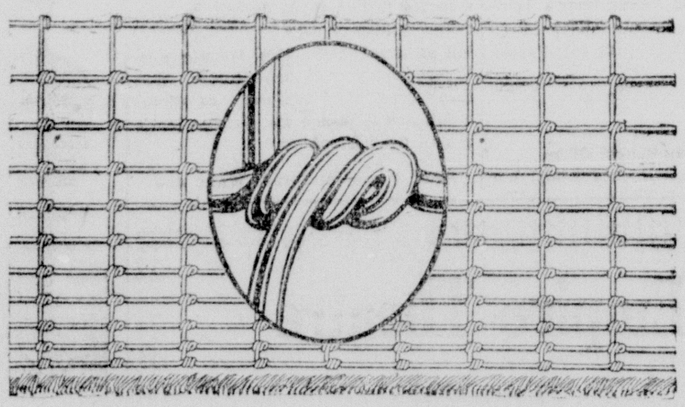
Royal Fence

As Made By The

American Steel and Wire Company

Has met with great favor and has stood the test of time.

Each and every wire is full guage, galvanized by the most improved scientific methods known to this company.



The stay wire is looped around the line wire and rests in a curve or bend, in the line wire, known as the tension curve, which makes ample allowance for contraction and expansion due to temperature changes; also prevents stays from slipping.

The Heavy Field Fence is constructed of the following guage Galvanized wires:—

Top Wire—No. 9. Bottom Wire—No. 9.
Intermediate and stay wire—No. 11.

This Fence stands UP in its place even though a number of staples have parted company with it.

See us about this fence, it is one you will like; others do.

Obituary

Many people assembled at Clyde, February 27th to pay their last respects to Mrs. Graham, whose earthly life ended at four o'clock Sunday morning, at the age of 92 years, 2 months and 16 days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Enis, in Clyde. After being bedfast for three weeks she suddenly took pneumonia which caused her death. Her husband died in 1900.

The funeral services were held at nine o'clock Tuesday morning February 27th at St. Benedict's Church in Clyde. Solemn Requiem Mass was sung by Rev. Father Graham, grandson of Mrs. Graham. Assistant priests were Rev. Frowin Mergen and Rev. Richard Felix, both of Conception Abbey. Rev. Father Ambrose, pastor of St. Benedict's Church, acted as Master of Ceremonies. After the celebration of Holy Mass, Rev. Frowin Mergen delivered a consoling funeral sermon.

The pall bearers were Leo and Lawrence Graham, Thomas and Roy Merrigan, Raymond Murrin and Will Graham, all grandsons of the deceased. The body was laid to rest by the side of her husband in St. Columba Cemetery at Conception. Services at the grave were conducted by the Rev. Father Ambrose.

Mrs. Anna Graham was born Dec. 9, 1830, in County Wicklow, Ireland. She came to America at the age of 12 and to Missouri in 1857. For the last forty years she has resided in and near Clyde. Mrs. Graham was always a kind loving mother and devoted her entire efforts and attention towards the betterment and happinness of her children and friends. Her patient, cheerful manner won her a host of friends, all who marvelled at her exceptional patience in all her illness. She is survived by the following children, John Graham, Mrs. Mary Murrin, Mrs. T. J. Parle, all of Maryville, R. W. Graham, Mrs. C. J. Merrigan and Mrs. Margaret Enis, all of Clyde She had twenty-six grandchildren, two of which have been called to the service of God, Father Graham of Stanberry, and Sister Mary Augusta (Parle) of Atchison, Kan., who has been within the fold of the Benedictine Order for the last six years. Mrs. Graham also leaves 3 great grandchildren. We all sadly mourn the loss of one so dear, but are consoled when we think of the reward that awaits the just.—Contributed.

Treasures in Tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen of Egypt

Opening of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, the "heretic" king of the Eighteenth Egyptian dynasty, at Luxor, has revealed an unexampled storehouse of treasures. This photograph gives a view of the antechamber looking west. Among the articles shown are a box containing the king's undergarments and other things; a large gilt couch with supports in the form of lions; a couch with supports in the form of "hat-hor" cows; numerous boxes containing mummified meat; a painted red box containing jewelry and ornaments; a papyrus rush-work stool, much decayed; the king's stool; another couch; four alabaster unguent vases of unique type and beauty; a semi-circular veneered box having minute detail of inlaid ivory.

King Tut's Chariots, Couches and Funeral Meats

In this photograph of the antechamber of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, king of Egypt more than thirty centuries ago, the principal objects seen are the king's stool, made of solid ebony with ivory and having gold mountings; a large royal ceremonial gilt couch; the king's throne which is covered with gold and silver and inlaid with precious stones; a wood trellis stool, a large wooden casket; a carved wood and ivory chair of exquisite workmanship; wheels, bodies, poles, harness and other parts of four chariots; wood gilt trellis work from an object of unknown use.

Box of Tut-Ankh-Amen's Underwear

Here in the antechamber of his tomb, is the long white wooden box which contained the underwear of King Tut-Ankh-Amen, who reigned in Egypt more than three thousand years ago. It also held many of his weapons. Above it is one of the ceremonial couches, and in the background one of the statues of the king at the sealed doorway of the sepulcher.

Tut-Ankh-Amen's Four Chariots

Here are the wheels, bodies, poles and other parts of four chariots as they were found in the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen at Luxor, Egypt. They are made of various hard woods, covered with stucco gilt, leather and inlaid ivory. The floors are of hide, in one case of leopard skin. Embossed gold panels on one represent the king's prisoners of war.

GUARDS THE SEPULCHER

One of the two statues of King Tut-Ankh-Amen guarding the sealed entrance to the sepulcher of that ancient Egyptian monarch. They are of wood, covered with a black material and richly decorated with gold.

KING'S ROBE CHEST

This beautiful painted casket, found in the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen of Egypt, contained the king's robes, decorated with elaborate bead and gold work of lapis-lazuli and turquoise; a gilt headrest like those used in Japan today, several pairs of sandals ornamented with inlaid gold, a black amber necklace, a collarette of faience, and other objects. On the vaulted lid of the chest the scenes represent the king and his courtiers hunting lions, antelopes and other animals. On the low sides are battle scenes.
